WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Senior or mid-level managers from a non-financial background interested in gaining a better understanding of financial principles.

INDIVIDUAL KEY BENEFITS

Participants will gain a deeper understanding of profit-and-loss accounts, balance sheets, and cash-flow statement operations, and learn to identify relevant costs and revenues. They will obtain a firm grasp on finance and be able to communicate their financial goals to others.

ORGANIZATIONAL BENEFITS

All ESMT programs are practice-oriented. This means that participants profit from the current state of research being applied in business today, research that can be implemented once participants return to their organizations. Furthermore, the programs provide both the participants and their organizations with fresh perspectives and a solid network of global contacts. In addition, each program is an opportunity to promote and retain valuable personnel.

Managers in multifaceted organizations are seldom encouraged to consider their value-chain position or the value created by all the players involved. Indeed, many executives are not confident in their knowledge of the underlying principles and practical applications of basic investment-appraisal techniques.

This innovative, action-oriented, hands-on program is designed for non-financial managers who wish to learn how accounting and financial processes work, and how to interpret the powerful messages that can emerge from the numbers. Finance for the Non-finance Executive (FIN) focuses on identifying and removing financial management roadblocks and helps establish a sustainable program on financial discipline and awareness.

TOPICS INCLUDE

- ✓ Developing awareness of external financial markets and their effects on management decisions
- ✓ Explaining relationships between revenue and costs and asset management; how return on capital employed (ROCE) is built from these two components; and how profit differs from cash
- ✓ Forensic analysis of cash-flow statements to predict financial stress
- ✓ Understanding the basic valuation framework surrounding investment decisions; measuring consequences of time adjustment, amounts of relevant cash flow, and risks
- ✓ Introducing new techniques in cost measurement, such as activity-based costing and value-chain analysis; discussing the relevance of these tools
- ✓ Effective cooperation with internal and external financial specialists

METHODS

We have designed an experience-based program for executives. As a result, FIN relies on methods specifically chosen for this group, including business cases, lectures, discussions with peers and faculty, group work, and plenary discussions.

POSTGRADUATE DIPLOMA IN MANAGEMENT – YOUR RETURN ON INVESTMENT

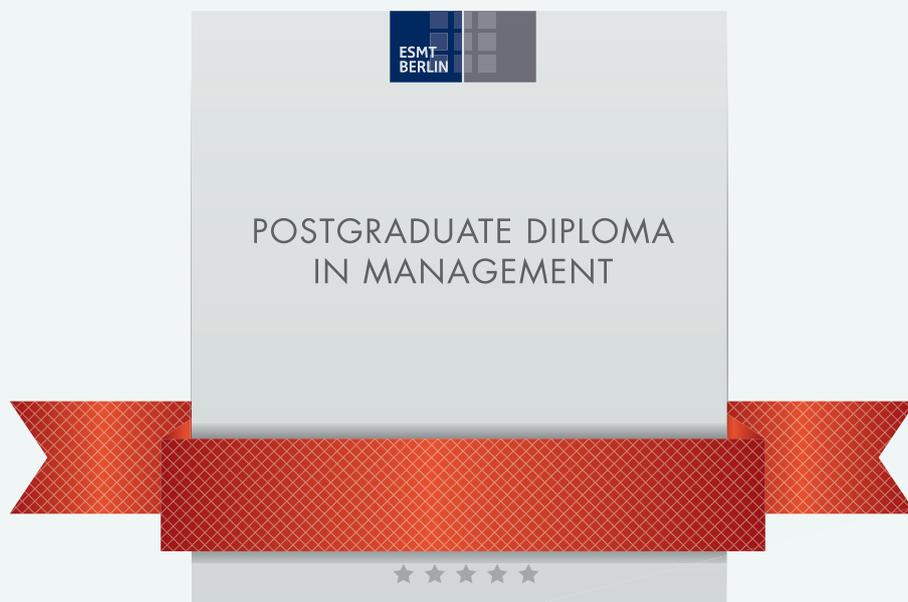

The Postgraduate Diploma in Management is a university-level certificate offered by ESMT Berlin. To acquire this diploma, candidates have to enroll for a minimum of three program weeks (18 days) spread over a period of 30 months. The postgraduate syllabus covers all major topics on leadership and general management.

We have further divided the course of study into three tracks: Leadership and Social Responsibility, Managing Technology, and General Management. The tracks allow participants to customize their course of study to suit their personal needs.

The programs have been designed – and will be led – by ESMT faculty members and ESMT visiting faculty, who will also advise participants throughout their studies. Programs are offered in both German and English.

Tuition fees vary, depending on the number of programs participants choose.

Finance for the Non-finance Executive is part of the cluster Core Competencies and counts toward 4 of the 18 days necessary to gain the diploma.

It was a very interesting and informative week.
I would especially highlight the sessions with Professor Lothian, because he manages to convey financial topics in a lively, humorous, and practical way.
ESMT and Berlin are both well worth a visit.
