Effective healthcare institutions need effective leaders

YOUNG PHYSICIAN LEADERS

Young Physician Leaders develops future leaders from an international group of young, promising healthcare and public health professionals.

Since 2016, ESMT Berlin collaborates with the InterAcademy Partnership for Health (IAP) and the World Health Summit in designing and delivering the Young Physician Leaders (YPL) Program – a 6-day leadership development program for a group of promising young healthcare and public health professionals from all over the world.

The YPL program covers themes around the sources of leadership, the different styles a leader needs in order to collaborate with superiors, peers, and followers and the complex processes of decision-making and organizational change.
